Frequently Asked Questions

Your Questions Answered About Our Custom Capabilities

Q: What is the average custom lead time I can expect?

A: Lead times may vary based on order size and design complexity. Production begins once mock-ups and/or pre-production samples are approved and any required deposit is received. We'll keep you informed every step of the way to ensure a smooth process.

Q: What makes concept development different from other customization options?

A: Concept development is an in-depth process that allows us to bring original ideas to life. While engraving, porcelain decorating, wrapper printing, and custom Metroweave® can be quickly quoted and delivered, concept development involves new production and logistics to ensure every detail is crafted just for you.

Q: What is the preferred format for artwork submissions?

A: Submit your artwork in high-resolution vector format (e.g., .AI, .EPS). If you need assistance, our design team can help create artwork that fits your needs (design fees may apply).

Q: What is a pre-production sample, and why is it important?

A: Pre-production samples give you the opportunity to review your design before full production begins, ensuring everything meets your expectations and quality standards. Since custom items are made just for you, they are non-refundable, non-cancelable, and non-returnable.

Q: I have more questions about a particular type of customization. where can I get additional details?
